

WILL STOP NEW ORLEANS SHIPS

Norfolk Decides to Keep Them in Quarantine for Five Days.

BIG SUIT OF MR. PAYNE

Richmond Sues David Lowenberg's Company for $25,000.—San Jose Scale.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., July 31.—Notice has been issued by the marine hospital surgeon, in charge of Cape Charles quarantine station, that all vessels from ports south must stop at the station off Old Point before proceeding for ports inside to which they may be destined. This does not mean that they will be detained, but that they must be inspected. Should there be no sickness aboard they will be allowed to proceed.

Simultaneously with this notice came the announcement that all vessels hailing from New Orleans and bound for the ports indicated, must halt and will be held at lower quarantine for at least five days. This means that the bars may be let down for vessels from all Southern ports, which shall pass inspection, but that the bars are put up firmly against New Orleans ships to the extent that they will be held in quarantine under any circumstances.

W. J. Payne, of Richmond, a railway and newspaper promoter in Newport News and Norfolk, has brought a suit in the Court of Law and Chancery for $25,000 damages against the Norfolk-Hampton Roads Company, of which David Lowenberg is president.

The suit was filed with the notice of the suit. STABBED FOR TEN CENTS.
Thomas Burney (colored), desperately wounded, is in the St. Vincent's Hospital, and John Johnson, alias Block (colored), is in the Norfolk county jail, Portsmouth, awaiting the result of the wounds. He was not allowed back because of the possibility of the death of his victim. The men quarreled in Princess Anne Avenue in Norfolk county on Saturday night over ten cents. Johnson says Burney threw a beer bottle at him, in proof of which Burney has a stab wound in his back, one in his arm and another in his left side.

SAN JOSE SCALE.
San Jose scale has appeared on fruit trees here. Peach and plum trees are the most seriously affected, and in some cases the fruit on those trees is not only falling off, but the trees are dying.

Mr. George W. Owen, of Park Place, and other residents there are losing trees as the result of the disease. Mr. Owen declares that the fruit of his peach and plum trees has been killed, and that the peach trees have been blasted. He has secured literature from the Agricultural Bureau at Washington, which recommends that when the trees show signs of blight from the scale they should be killed and burned at once to prevent the spread of the scale to other trees.

John H. Warren, residing at No. 109 Hughes Street, Brambleton, and connected with the City Gas Company, died this morning at his home from lockjaw, having been sick seven days. BISHOP GRANBERY SHOWS OLD TIME FIRE

The Home-Come of Rev. J. L. Patton From Japan An Event in Ashland.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ASHLAND, VA., July 31.—Bishop Granbery, of the Methodist Church, filled the pulpit of the Duncan Memorial here yesterday, and preached one of his old-time sermons, full of burning zeal and thoughtful power. The bishop is now in his seventy-fifth year, and lives in simple and beautiful retirement at his pretty home here. He has always promptly obeyed the call of duty, and was suddenly requested to take Mr. Dodman's place yesterday on account of the absence of the latter.

He read in a most impressive manner the story of the Prophet Sam, but took for his text the elder son. "In order to be happy," he said, "learn obedience, stay at your father's home, sit at your father's table and do your father's bidding." This eloquent exhortation rang out with profound force upon his hearers. The home-coming of Rev. J. Lindsey Patton and Mrs. Patton with their interesting family of five children, most of whom were born in the flowery land of the Mikado, proved an interesting event in Ashland today. Mr. and Mrs. Patton are returning direct to Ashland from their work in Japan in connection with the Episcopal Church, after an absence of fifteen years, and were greeted by a large number of warm friends and relatives here to-day. Mrs. Patton is the daughter of the late Colonel John M. Patton, of Albemarle county. Mrs. D. S. Ellis and children have returned from a delightful visit to the seashore. Mrs. A. S. Carr, of Ashland, who has been ill for several weeks, is rapidly recovering.

bers, was holding a meeting at the same time, and a recess for ten minutes was taken.

On motion of Mr. Pollard, when the body reconvened, the resolution of the Finance Committee authorizing the purchase of the south half of the lot on Clay Street, between Seventh and Eighth Streets, was taken from the table and read.

Against This Site.
President Peters called Mr. Spence to the chair, and in a vigorous speech opposed the purchase of the property named in the resolution. At the outset he said he favored a new High School and would favor the payment of a greater sum for a building that would be a greater credit to the city. The city now owned property on Marshall Street, he declared, that was equally as good as the property proposed to be purchased. One of his objections to the Clay Street site was that there could not be a proper drainage.

Mr. Huber asked several members the difference in the cost of the different properties, and brought out many additional facts on the question.

Answering one Mr. Huber's queries, Mr. Pollard said that members of the Finance Committee were practically agreed that the present site was not a proper one.

Cannon Favored the Site.
Counsellman Cannon, in supporting the resolution, said that the Finance Committee had acted only after careful consideration. It was betraying no secret, he said, when it was made known that the committee first considered the purchase of the Ford's Hotel site for a new High School. A subcommittee investigated the matter and their report was that the price would be over $100,000.

Next, he said, the Finance Committee had considered the Woman's College property, but found that this would cost about $30,000.

In the purchase of the Clay Street site Mr. Cannon declared that the city would be saving money, for the price for the site would be $60,000, and the property on Marshall Street could be retained.

Resolution Adopted.
From the chair President Peters replied to Mr. Cannon, and said that he was more convinced than ever that the Clay Street property was not the proper place for the location of the new High School.

The resolution passed by a vote of 24 to 8, Counsellman Gates, Huber, Stein, Wilshire and Peters voting in the negative.

Bryant the Architect.
Immediately after the adoption of the resolution to elect Mr. Charles K. Bryant as architect for the proposed building, Mr. Bottom opposed the selection of an architect at this time without any plans.

Mr. Bryant was selected, 26 to 3, Messrs. Bottom, Johnson and Masurier voting in the negative.

Counsellman Bottom reported from the Committee on Ordinances, Charters and Reform the substitute annexation ordinance. The clerk had just finished reading the report when President Peters ruled the report out of order. He gave as his reason for the decision that a like ordinance was now pending before the body and that this could not be considered until the first matter was disposed of.

Counsellman Mills then moved that the action of the Council deferring action on the first annexation ordinance until the next regular meeting be rescinded. He did this, he said, to bring the matter up now, and that a vote to rescind required the same number of votes, as did one to

A Remarkable Sale of Fine Linens.

The New York agency of a famous Irish maker furnished us with this lot of handsome imported Damasks.

Consisting of Some Two Hundred and Fifty Pieces

Cloths and Napkins only—none of them matched. And this latter phrase explains in four words why they come to you at such a fraction of their real worth, as is stated in the lists below.

This is an economical event that no thrifty housekeeper can afford to let pass. The Linens are absolutely perfect—only they come in broken sets. We have kept the identical make and qualities in stock, and we heartily recommend them; they are in every way worthy of your confidence.

Of extra heavy, double Irish Damask, beautifully bleached and perfectly woven. Cloths of various lengths, all 2 1-2 yards wide.

Napkins in same textures as Cloths—popular sizes. Patterns are greatly varied, all highly artistic and thoroughly modern.

CLOTHS, 2 1/2x2 1/2 yards, in 10 different patterns, sold for $6.00, now.....$3.50
CLOTHS, 2 1/2x3 yards, in 8 different patterns, sold for $7.50, now.....$4.25
CLOTHS, 2 1/2x3 1/2 yards, in 6 different patterns, sold for $8.75, now.....$4.00
CLOTHS, 2 1/2x4 yards, in 7 different patterns, sold for $10.00, now.....$5.25

Napkins in same qualities, but do not match patterns in Cloths:
NAPKINS, 1/2 size, in 15 different patterns, sold for $3.50 a dozen, now.....$2.70
NAPKINS, 1/2 size, in 10 different patterns, sold for $4.50 a dozen, now.....$3.45
NAPKINS, 1/2 size, in 15 different patterns, sold for $5.00 a dozen, now.....$3.00
NAPKINS, 1/2 size in 10 different patterns, sold for $6.50 a dozen, now.....$4.00

Many Odd Cloths From Regular Stock.

Do not confound these Linens with the offerings above. They are equally great bargains, however, but of a different class. Brought to light in the course of stock-taking. May be a bit mussed or a little soiled, or perhaps both. Anyway, it is all made up in the lessened prices—

25 CLOTHS, size 2x2 1/2, all pure linen, were $3.75 each, now $2.60.

350 Marseilles Quilts At $2.50 Each.

Took a case of these—a rather big lot for so late a purchase, but the importer named such an attractive figure that we knew the lot would hardly half go round. You'll find this a really wonderful Quilt in handsome patterns, full 12-4 size, immaculately white, hemmed, laundered, ready for use—

At $2.50 each, instead of $3.50.
